Outlines

In December 2024, after 5 years of intense work, the Jems development has come to an end. Interact invites anyone involved in Interreg to celebrate with us the success of Jems. Jems is an operation of strategic importance (OSI). This event aims to provide an insight in the Jems development journey regarding challenges and how they were overcome. We present facts & figures as well as interesting features and elements during this event.

You will learn about the results of our user surveys, what makes Jems so unique, why Jems saves money for programmes and what is the benefit of a community driven system.

Through testimonials and insights from key stakeholders that made Jems possible, we would like to celebrate the success of this project but also present important lessons learned for any project that might be setup in a similar complex setting.

This agenda provides a general overview of how the event is planned and structured.

Objectives

This OSI event aims to:

- to provide a comprehensive overview of Jems,
- highlight its history and evolution,
- discuss its challenges and successes,
- and showcase the impact it has had on programs.

The goal is to celebrate the success of Jems, engage participants in shared experiences, and open the floor for discussion on its future development and wider implementation.

Target group

We want to encourage the participation of colleagues working in Interreg and anyone else who wants to learn about monitoring systems.
